

Domat/Ems, April 5, 2017

MEDIA INFORMATION

General Motors again awards EMS the title of "Supplier of the Year"

For the seventh year in succession, and as the only Swiss company, EMS-CHEMIE received the "GM Supplier of the Year" award. With this coveted award, General Motors (GM) recognises its best suppliers throughout the world.

EMS-CHEMIE was honoured as "Supplier of the Year" for the seventh year in succession by General Motors (GM). GM, one of the leading automotive manufacturers, awards this title to suppliers who have provided an excellent worldwide performance throughout the previous year. On March 31, 2017, the award was presented personally to Magdalena Martullo, CEO / Vice-Chairman of the Board of Directors and main shareholder of the EMS Group, and Christian Morf, Vice President Sales/Marketing / EMS-GRIVORY, at an official presentation ceremony in Orlando (USA).

EMS-CHEMIE received this award as long-standing development partner for very innovative solutions using high-performance polymers. At the award ceremony, GM praised not only its excellent longstanding business relationship with EMS, but emphasised above all the outstanding high-quality performance with regard to pioneering technology, the permanent exchange of innovations and short response time.

The "Global Supplier of the Year" award is highly esteemed within the automotive industry. Based on this, EMS will drive forward the mutual development work already in progress worldwide and go for new projects.

Award Ceremony in Orlando (USA), March 31, 2017:

From left to right:

Chris Naegeli, Executive Director Thermal Systems/Raw Materials (General Motors)

Magdalena Martullo, CEO and Vice President of the Board (EMS-CHEMIE HOLDING AG)

Kristen M. Siemen, Executive Director Global Function Leader (General Motors)

Christian Morf, Vice President Sales/Marketing (EMS-GRIVORY)

* * * * *