

MEDIA INFORMATION

---

General Motors, the world's leading automotive manufacturer, again awards EMS the title of "Supplier of the Year"

For the fourth year in succession, and as the only Swiss company, EMS-CHEMIE received the "GM Supplier of the Year" award. With this coveted award, General Motors (GM) recognises its best suppliers throughout the world.

EMS-CHEMIE was honoured as "Supplier of the Year" for the fourth year in succession by General Motors (GM). The world's largest automotive manufacturer GM awards this title to suppliers who have provided an excellent worldwide supply performance throughout the previous year. On March 12, 2014, the award was presented personally to Magdalena Martullo, CEO and main shareholder of the EMS Group, and Christian Morf, Vice President Sales & Marketing / EMS-GRIVORY, at an official presentation ceremony in Detroit (USA).

EMS is the only resin manufacturer to date to have received this award. In 2010 GM created the new award category "Resins and Raw Materials" especially for EMS. At the award ceremony, GM praised not only its excellent longstanding business relationship with EMS, but emphasised above all the outstanding high-quality performance, pro-active behaviour and an on-going exchange regarding innovations.

As this award holds a good reputation within the automotive industry, the title will be of great relevance as basis for future business development for EMS.

Award ceremony in Detroit (USA), March 12, 2014:

From left to right:

Charlie Baker, Executive Director Global Product Development (General Motors)

Christian Morf, Vice President Sales/Marketing, EMS-GRIVORY

Magdalena Martullo, CEO (EMS)

Tom McMillen, Executive Director Interior & Safety (General Motors)