

Domat/Ems, March 18, 2016

MEDIA INFORMATION

General Motors again awards EMS the title of "Supplier of the Year"

For the sixth year in succession, and as the only Swiss company, EMS-CHEMIE received the "GM Supplier of the Year" award. With this coveted award, General Motors (GM) recognises its best suppliers throughout the world.

EMS-CHEMIE was honoured as "Supplier of the Year" for the sixth year in succession by General Motors (GM). GM, one of the leading automotive manufacturers, awards this title to suppliers who have provided an excellent worldwide performance throughout the previous year. On March 10, 2016, the award was presented personally to Magdalena Martullo, Delegate of the Board of Directors and main shareholder of the EMS Group, and Christian Morf, Vice President Sales/Marketing / EMS-GRIVORY, at an official presentation ceremony in Detroit (USA).

As raw-material specialist, EMS received this award for the very close cooperative development work towards innovative solutions. At the award ceremony, GM praised not only its excellent longstanding business relationship with EMS, but emphasised above all the outstanding high-quality performance with regard to innovative technology, the permanent exchange of innovations and EMS' rapid reaction time as development partner.

As this award holds a good reputation within the automotive industry, the title will be of great relevance as basis for future business development for EMS.

Award ceremony in Detroit (USA), March 10, 2016:

From left to right:

Kristen M. Siemen, Executive Director Global Function Leader (General Motors)

Magdalena Martullo, CEO, Vice President of the Board (EMS-CHEMIE HOLDING AG)

Christian Morf, Vice President Sales/Marketing (EMS-GRIVORY)

Chris Naegeli, Executive Director Thermal Systems/Raw Materials (General Motors)

* * * * *